THE State of Mississippi has voiced its sentiments against the legal sale of liquors under state control. When the ballots were all counted, and the 2 to 1 victory for the drys announced, a final analysis brings to the surface an active contender—the bootlegger—whose plea was absent on the ballot, but, who undeniably rode the crest of dry victory.

This is a free country—everyone is entitled to their own opinion—but this column believes that all the long-eared animals were not fastened in ramshacked state-revenue-repaired stables on election day—lots of 'em were at the polls when they should have been munching on a bale of hay. HEE-HAW—looks like a 2 to 1 victory for the Mississippi bootleggers.

WHEN an aviator makes a parachute jump from a plane at an altitude of 2000 feet, pulls the cord, and his chute opens, he naturally expects to continue his journey groundward. But when you make the jump on Friday the 13th, anything can happen. . . and it did to Private Knutson, of the Forty-Second school squadron at Kelly Field. In place of floating downward when his parachute opened, the soldier was caught in an ascending current of air, and carried 800 feet into the clouds before he finally started down. Ten minutes elapsed before the man landed safely on the ground. Under ordinary circumstances a landing from this altitude requires about 1 minute.

A fellow parachute jumper made his 13th parachute jump on this date in defiance of the 13th, jinx and landed without mishap. He planned to have a black cat accompany him, but this part of the stunt was overruled by the flying field commandant.

DAN CUPID also took a healthy crack at the Friday the 13th jinx in San Antonio. According to a report from the marriage license clerk exactly 13 couples applied for license to wed on this date.

IT USED to be that girls wore the dress, hat, and other wearing apparel to appease the tastes of their boy friends. Now the taste has gotten around to the lips. A local department store is offering wine-flavored lip sticks! Yes, yes, sir—take your choice—port, burgundy, claret, grenadine, chianti, and maderia flavors. This new-fangled stunt may be a conspiracy between the girls and cosmetic manufacturers. Just a delightful way of intoxicating the bashful beaux into summing up enough courage to propose. Whoopee, what next! (P. S. Lovely Mississippi girls will probably be compelled to purchase their liquor flavored lip sticks from bootleggers.)

The first railroad train entered Washington, D. C., on this date in the year 1835.

TEXAS' primary election will be held on Saturday, July 28th. Seven candidates are listed for the governor's seat to replace Ma Ferguson—and her advisor-husband Jim Ferguson, long a rompus-raiser in Texas politics. Perhaps the voters can shuffle 'em up and draw a pretty good governor out of that lineup.

ACCORDING to Texas law governing sale of legalized beer, sale of this beverage is prohibited between the hours of 7 A. M. and 8 P. M. on any primary or general election day.

THE jokers have been enjoying themselves at the expense of their sweltering fellow citizens with the startling information that the temperature was below freezing just three miles from San Antonio the other day. And the queer part of the jest is that the pesky critters are absolutely correct. . . only they fail to mention the recording was made three miles up over a local flying field with a new instrument said to give more accurate weather prediction reports than present methods. This will prove a great advantage to commercial aviation, flying authorities indicated.

FROM wide-scattered sections of the country come reports of serious labor strikes of one kind or another. But the king-pin of the lot hails from Hollywood movie colony. Baby Shirley Temple, child actress, whose meteoric rise from ranks of the unknown to stardom to every movie fan, is demanding $2500 a week instead of her present salary of $150 every Saturday night. And when we asked the hard-boiled managing editor for a 2 buck raise he said, "NO," and if we didn't like it, we could go places. It aint fair mates, these baby film stars get all the lollypops.

YOUTHS and men who have been enjoying cooling splashes in municipal pools clud only in trunks have received 'thumbs down' from Corporation Court Judge Phil Shook, Jr. Those who wish to imitate Tarzan must keep away from city pools, the judge decreed, as he imposed a $5 fine on a youthful swimmer charged with 'over exposure.' The judge probably hasn't

PUBLIC MASS MEETING AT CITY HALL DECLARES IN FAVOR OF FACTORIES

Meeting of Masses Tuesday Evening Followed by Parade—Mayor Blaize and Commissioner of Public Utilities Perkins Speak

There were two meetings of public interest held Tuesday evening, one at the City Hall at 6 o'clock, the other at St. Stanislaus college at 8 o'clock. Both were opposition meetings, and strange as it may appear, favored the major issue, "we want factories."

The subject of locating two sea-food factories on the shores of Bay St. Louis has brought forth much discussion and adverse opinion as to location of these industries. In the midst of opposition, however, all agree on the one point that the establishment of factories and other industries in Bay St. Louis and vicinity is essential to the present and future success of the people, the masses who must work and by their own livelihood depend their very existence.

While nearly every place of business of any proportion constitutes a payroll, and much of the labor hereabouts is absorbed by various business enterprises, there is a great surplus of men and women who are in need and willing to work. The establishment of industries, even sea-food and vegetable canneries, would absorb much of this labor and provide in great measure more means of making a living in Bay St. Louis. Our people not only need the work but are more than willing to do so.

For this reason there is not a man, woman or child opposed to the factories. On the contrary, people have not only signed petitions for locating these enterprises here but instances have subscribed cash in order to further encourage the promoters.

The issue at stake, however, regards the location of such plants. This seems to be a matter of detail and will no doubt be satisfactorily adjusted without jeopardizing our chances of procuring both factories for this section. No person or group wishes the factories more than The Echo.

Mass Meeting at City Hall

A crowd variously estimated from five hundred to one thousand people assembled in front of the City Hall Tuesday night, with the Municipal Band in attendance. It was a large and orderly crowd. Each and every one was bent on the one thought that we must have industries in order to provide a living for our people. The number of unemployed people in Bay St. Louis and vicinity cannot be estimated. Honest people willing to earn their living but no work. It was with this thought the crowd assembled in order that the proposed factories be located and supply means of self-maintenance.

Mayor G. Y. Blaize Speaks

The balcony of the city hall formed an ideal speaking platform. Mayor Blaize was the first to address the people. He spoke loud and clearly, his every word carrying conviction and there was no mistake in what he said, that he was with the masses and wished to provide further means for our people making a living, that is, the surplus labor of which we seem to have so much—like all other communities.

He assured the public he was with them. That he was standing by the slogan "We Want Factories," and that all within his power would be exerted in order to procure the proposed industries. The Mayor was at his best and made a splendid address.

Commissioner Perkins Speaks

H. Grady Perkins, commissioner of public utilities was the second speaker. He dwelt on the subject in unmistakable terms and assured his hearers that all that would be possible for the commission council to do toward the end of procuring the factories would not be allowed to remain undone.

He said Mr. Taltuvall, promoter and owner of the factory to be built on the former Peerless oyster factory site, had the day previously abandoned the idea of building. But after a conference that morning with the mayor and commissioners, held that morning he promised men would resume work of clearing for building the next day. Mr. Perkins' statement was clearly set forth, concise and he made the position of the council clear. Positive, irrevocable and definite.

Parade Follows

Headed by the municipal band, a parade of men and women, on foot, followed. It was quiet and orderly and was an outward sign and exemplification of the spirit of the meeting. This meeting and parade was

CHURCH TO HOLD FAIR JULY 21-22

Benefit For Debt Fund Our Lady of the Gulf at College Lawn This Week-End

Preparations for the Annual Mid-Summer Festival, or Church Fair for the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf are fast reaching the stage of completion. The ladies in charge of the various booths report that all the committees have worked hard and all things point to a very successful fair. The people of Bay St. Louis as well as the summer visitors have received the committees well and have been generous toward the fair. A list of the donors will be acknowledged in the next issue of The Echo, this of course will accompany the list of the workers for the fair.

Some few changes have been necessary due to the fact some ladies chosen for tables will be detained elsewhere, but even these will do their bit to make the Fair a success. Miss Frances will be in charge of the Candy Table, and among her helpers we find Miss Josie Scalfie, Misses Blanche Gordon, Kathleen Gordon and Imabelle Fahey.

Refreshments of all kinds will be served at the fair, everything from a lunch to dainties will be on hand, and will be made and served by experts at this particular form of entertainment. For those who prefer games of chance we would suggest that they visit the Race Horses, the Box Candy Table, the Novelty Table. The Old Country Store, which has been handled by Mr. Larose with so much success in former years, will again find this veteran at the counter, or rather on the counter, for that is his usual position. You will find real bargains at the country store.

Music will be furnished by the Municipal Band. Since its organization this band has generously offered its services to the Church Fair, and we might add that its music has been one of the features of the entertainment.

The Fair will open about 5 o'clock Saturday, July 21 and still run late into the night. On Sunday it will continue; the opening for Sunday July 22nd, will be about 5 o'clock and will last as long as the patrons remain on the grounds.

Those in charge of booths are asked to be on the grounds early Saturday afternoon in order to prepare the various tables and select locations.

The public is cordially invited to the Fair. The people of Bay St. Louis have always responded to the call, and again they are asked to come. The Summer visitors likewise are invited to attend and help to make the Fair a success.

The place will be the lawn of St. Stanislaus College.

The Fair will open Saturday, July 21st, and will continue Sunday evening, July 22nd.

The proceeds of the fair will be used to pay some of the debt of the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf.

Admission to the Fair on both nights is absolutely FREE.

New CCC Camp Boys To Enjoy Their First Dance

First dance for new CCC Camp boys will be given Friday night, July 20. Mrs. Sylvester, Mrs. Speer and Mrs. Anderson ask that all young ladies make a special effort to attend.

The new boys are from the Coast and assure us that they will be the most gracious host. With Lieutenants Weisard and Robinson are in charge we know everything will be carried out in a most pleasing manner.

not one of antagonism, said Mayor Blaize, "but simply an opportunity to give our people a means of expressing their wishes in the premises. We have no idea of forcing anything on our people. We always regard the wishes of all concerned—as far as humanly possible. However, we do and must bow to the wishes of the majority."

BAY SAINT LOUIS LIBRARY RECEIVES SHIPMENT NEWBOOKS

Volumes of Unusual and Current Interest—"Our Movie-Made Children"

A new shipment of books from Jackson promises to be more exciting than the last, while a glance at copyright dates show them to be of more recent vintage.

"At Three Thirty" is Eva Legallienne's story of her own life, and is said to be excellent reading. Copyright 1934.

Here's a chance to compare our pet theories on what the movies are doing to our children with those of eminent, scientists, psychologists, sociologists and educators in "Our Movie Made Children," which is the first book of its kind and the result of a nation-wide four-year investigation, gotten together by Henry James Forman. Copyright 1933.

"Along the Shore," by Eva L. Butler is an interesting and timely study of Little Sea Creatures such as the Sea Anemone, which looks like an innocent and lovely flower, but is really a voracious sea beast. Second printing, 1932.

A glance through "Animals Looking at You" by Paul Eipper, shows interesting photographs of Animals and chapters with fascinating titles such as: "Sea Elephants of the Antarctic," "The Homesick Jaguar," "Emu Hate and Fatherly Love." Copyright 1929.

Miss Louise Crawford is hard at work on a new doll's house to be raffled in the near future, to benefit the small children's book department. Children will revel in details such as knives, forks and platters of fish sketched on the little dining table; book-ends and vases of flowers in the living room.

The library has 587 books, now that Mrs. C. C. McDonald has given 15 and young John Bryan, one.

Children's Hour To Be Held This Friday In City Hall Park

The children's Hour will be held this Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 in City Hall Park. Mothers are most cordially invited to attend so those in charge may discuss and decide on a most convenient time for the future meetings.

BAY SCOUTS TO HOLD FIRST COURT OF HONOR NEXT MONDAY EVENING

Scene of Ceremony to Be at St. Stanislaus Auditorium—Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian Troops to Join In One Ceremony

The First Court of Honor of the Bay-Pass District will be held in the St. Stanislaus auditorium, Bay St. Louis, Monday, July 23, at 8 P. M.

The Boy Scouts of the four troops Bay St. Louis 208 and 217 and Pass Christian 209 and 216, have worked hard for the awards they will receive on this occasion. The public of this District should be proud of the Scouts, and they should be actively engaged in this work; many of the boys of this district have been carried into summer camps in out door living, teaching them to care for themselves and helping others in case of accidents, etc., and to train them to be good patriotic citizens.

In this rushing age of transportation it is a hard problem, and these boy scouts can be used to protect the school children from the great dangers of the highways and cross-roads leading to the schools.

The committee of this District is composed of some of the leading and well trained men, and request the public to be present at these ceremonies, to encourage the boys with your presence, and to witness the wonderful progress that these scouts have made.

The full program for the occasion follows:

GRAHAM CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE

Asks Public for Re-Election To Office He Formerly Held for Six Years

In this issue of the Sea Coast Echo will be found the formal announcement of Judge D. M. Graham of Gulfport for the office of Circuit Judge of the Second Judicial District of Mississippi. Judge Graham is no stranger to the people of this District, as he has served as Circuit Judge of this district for more than six years and his record in that office is well known; he was first elected to the office at a special election, and served out the unexpired term of the late Judge James H. Neville; he was then overwhelmingly elected at the general primary election and made a phenomenal race carrying every precinct in the District except two small ones; he is personally popular with the people and has friends at every polling place in the District. He is well and popularly known in Bay St. Louis and Hancock county.

In making the announcement, Judge Graham states: "I have no illusions about the duties of the office; it requires a man of legal learning, executive ability, common sense and good character as a matter of course; it was my aim at all times to make the Circuit Court effective without undue harshness; I always went to the County site before the convening of the Court and attempted to arrange the docket so that the court could proceed with its business without unnecessary delay and with as little expense as possible, and I always remained at the County site until the business of the Court was concluded; it was my purpose at all times to see after the comfort of the Jurors and parties who were compelled to remain around the Court from day to day. There were very few reversals from the decisions of the Court while I served on the bench; in fact I had the best record of any Circuit Judge in the State at the time in that respect."

I refer to my record as evidence of how the Court will be conducted if the people elect me."

Judge Graham was a visitor to Bay St. Louis a few days ago and friends on every side were glad to see him again. He received much encouragement and feels gratified at the outlook. He asks the earnest consideration of every voter and other friends as well.

NEW G-3 TIRE HAS 'SKYROCKETED TO PUBLIC APPROVAL

Unprecedented sales have resulted since the public announcement of the Goodyear G-3 tire on April 29, according to E. J. Arceneaux, local dealer for The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

"The new G-3 All-Weather skyrocketed to success, Mr. Arceneaux asserted. "It took Goodyear over 24 months to perfect it, but it met with immediate public acceptance within 24 hours after its announcement."

"There are a number of reasons why the G-3 has become so popular. Included are a wider, flatter tread, giving greater road contact; more diamond blocks in the center of the tread for additional safety; an average of two pounds more rubber per tire; wider riding ribs; narrower and deeper grooves—all of which sum up to 43 per cent more not-skid mileage in the G-3 over old style tires."

"In addition, the tire may be purchased for the present at the same low prices, but restrictions on crude rubber may affect tire price, and it seems reasonable to expect that any money and getting the benefit of new tire during the hot summer months, and sure-footed traction during the winter when wet, slippery streets are the rule, Mr. Arceneaux concluded."

Pursuant to a call, headed "An Invitation," and publicly circulated the latter part of last week, a gathering of beach residents and other tax-payers in the immediate vicinity gathered at St. Stanislaus auditorium Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The place was well filled and seats were provided for the convenience of the number present.

Bro. William, president of St. Stanislaus college, called the meeting to order and was unanimously elected chairman. His message was of a most conciliatory character, and he, too, as later voiced by the various speakers, was not opposed to factories in Bay St. Louis. On the contrary, he said, he favored industry for the city; that the success of the city was the success of the college, and vice versa. That the two were one and well night indivisible. They both had worked in unison for many years and all for one object—the uplift and general amelioration of the place.

St. Stanislaus college," he said, "provides the biggest payroll of any business or firm in the city. It was second to none." Then he stated in figures how much was paid weekly, monthly and annually by the different operating departments of the college. He said the bill at one retail store alone was over $600.00 per month regularly.

"Our greatest asset for the college," he continued, "and we advertise it extensively as such, is fresh and pure air, climate, unpolluted bathing waters in the bay. And for this reason, aside from the academic phase of learning of our institution, many patrons send their boys season after season. Because this is a health resort, and we wish to keep it so."

Various speakers included, each and everyone favoring factories, but the point of issue was location. Included in the number of speakers were Mr. George E. Pitcher, Dr. James A. Evans, Henry Larose, Leo E. Kenney, Marion Green (speaking for the Green family), Edward Schwartz, Owen Crawford, Mrs. Carl Marshall, Wilson Callender. Principal address was by Publisher Marshall Ballard, who delivered the address of the evening, as both a resident and tax-payer for the past thirty years.

Mr. Ballard's address was calm and deliberate. He praised the endeavor of the people and their enterprise as well in the effort of procuring factories and industries for this section. He deplored the condition of the vast number of poor people in this section and agreed it was necessary to provide a livelihood for these good people.

He proposed two committees. One to sit with the city council and go over the situation with a view of an amiable understanding. And another committee to hold conference with Mr. Taltuvall, promoter and principal proprietor of the proposed factory to be located on the former Peerless factory site.

He paid Mr. Taltuvall high tribute for his business ability, his splendid name and rating in both the business and financial world, and as a man he knew of no finer. He said he felt a committee in conference with Mr. Taltuvall would result in ironing out rough places and of coming to a better understanding. Mr. Taltuvall, he said, would understand. Because he was a man of that type.

A "committee on committees" was named, George E. Pitcher, Dr. James A. Evans, Wilson Callender. This committee retired and soon returned with the following nominations, which were approved by the meeting and consisting of Marshall Ballard, Mrs. Marshall Ballard, Mrs. J. B. Goldman, Mrs. Marie Theard, Mrs. Theo E. Kenney, Mrs. Carl Marshall, Dr. James A. Evans, Mr. Wilson Callender, President Bro. William, Donald Marshall, Mrs. Donald Marshall, Edw. Schwartz, Marion Green, Henry Larose, Owen Crawford, Mr. Killen. The last six named compose a separate committee to confer with Mr. Taltuvall.

Legal Committee on Procedure—Attorney Water Carroll, J. J. Caron, James Geary and Judge Walter J. Gleason.

The meeting adjourned, committees to meet and "get busy" the next day, if possible, it was stated. A plan of amicable adjustments was adopted for the future.

FARMERS GET VERY LITTLE

IN 1929 the consumers of this country paid something like $19,000,000,000 for the products of American farms, according to Dr. Frederick C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the A. A. A.

How much of this did the farmer get? How much of it did those who processed and handled it get? The answer is revealing.

The farmer, according to the same authority, got seven billion and the industries wedged between him and the consumer got the other twelve. That the division is all wrong is the conviction of many economic experts, who believe that under proper control some of the twelve billions can be divided between the consumer and the farmer, to the profit of the country.

SOMEHTHING NEW POLITICALLY

TEXAS reports something new politically.

It seems that Will G. Sharman, of Houston who was defeated two years ago for County Commissioner by W. P. Tautenhahn, was about to oppose his successor this summer which is in accord with good American political strategy.

However, "after consulting with my friends and supporters," says Mr. Sharman, "I am convinced that public sentiment favors giving Mr. Tautenhahn another term."

This is strange politics to many sections. It may be the inauguration of something new in campaigns for office in Texas but in most places it will be just another good example gone to waste.

PAYS OFF DEPOSITORS

HERE'S something new—depositors of an Illinois bank, which failed, were promptly paid off by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The bank at East Peoria was the first to fail while insured under the new deposit insurance law. A widow, with $1,250 in the bank, got the first check, settling her account in full.

Altogether about $125,000 was paid, each depositor being insured up to $2,500. Their claims against the bank were assigned the corporation which will get what they are worth from the receiver. Incidentally, the FDIC has a pre-set capital of $329,000,000.

PASS AND BAY BOY SCOUTS

PUBLIC is invited to attend ceremonies incidental to a Court of Honor, on Monday night of next week, at St. Stanislaus auditorium when members of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian boy scouts will participate.

Our local troops are far from dormant. Active, keen and alert to every movement. Their season has been one of achievement. Headed by red-blooded leaders and men who do, the scouts have followed in the footsteps of their instructors and achieved enviable record.

To Jerry Dickson will be presented the high honor carried by the Eagle Scout Badge.

NO ARTIFICIAL RAIN-MAKER

THE recent dry spells that caused such damage to crops in many states have at least performed one useful function, demonstrating conclusively that nature, and not man, is the rain-maker.

According to Dr. W. J. Humphreys, of the Weather Bureau, no device has been developed that is of any value in starting or stopping rain. Sprinkling clouds with dry ice, starting fires, loud explosions and other schemes are of no practical value, although the use of fire is correct in principle but the cost of a fire big enough to break a drought would be prohibitive.

During tour through the Caribbean Sea, the President called upon the old community on the island of St. Croix. Some of the sound-minded residents met him, bearing a banner which read: "We want a Democratic Governor." The incident reminds one of the stanza from the hymn book, which runs something like this: "From many an ancient river, From many a palmy plain, They call us to deliver Their land from error's chain."

Even the folks in remote St. Croix appear to be fed up on Republican rule.

A little paint and repair will make almost any house in Bay St. Louis look better.

It might not be a bad idea for the adults to follow the Boy Scout motto and do a good turn daily.

Never be discourteous to those who try to sell you; some of them might have a good thing for sale.

After the movies are reformed it will be time to take up books, poetry, plays and anything else that lies around unchaperoned.

If a merchant advertises in The Echo, he at least invites you to trade with him and, if he isn't willing to give you good service and fair prices he is certainly wasting his money.

WE WANT FACTORIES

REGARDLESS of various phases of personal opinion either publicly or privately expressed at both mass meetings held Tuesday evening anent the building of two proposed seafood factories in Bay St. Louis waters, there was one unanimity of expression. That was everyone agreed we want factories.

No one debated this subject. It was accepted before attending the two groups holding separate meetings. That we want factories and other industries is the unanimous acclaim. No one disputes this. And it is well for no one wishes to hinder the material and substantial side of the commercial growth of the city.

It must be remembered, as a speaker well said, there are no means of employing the surplus labor that exists here and elsewhere as well. There are still millions of people out of work, regardless of the recovery program or the NRA set-up, even though no one would disparage President Roosevelt's plan that has aided considerably in helping the unemployed situation and stabilizing the country.

It must be remembered there was a time when Bay St. Louis drew largely and in part its resources from such places as the Kiln where the Hines mills were located, Weston mills at Logtown, the Joulain factories at Lakeshore, other sawmill industries, turpentine and rosin stills. These have all vanished, including the various shipyards. And nothing have taken place to fill the various voids.

Hancock county has not one industry operating today. The timber has been cut out and the mills have ceased to operate.

Bay St. Louis now practically consists the major portion of the county. The share of paying taxes now must fall on this city and adjacent beach territory.

The logical conclusion is: We want factories, industries, enterprises that will give labor to our people; that will afford a means of livelihood and that stabilize conditions that are all too shaky now. And that with a rising tax burden since the industries that were once of the county have vanished and contribute no longer to the public treasury. The tax burden has fallen heavily on the shoulders of the Bay St. Louis tax-payers who can no longer carry on.

We want factories is unanimous. Certainly. No one denies this. That is not the issue. The difference to be settled lies between the factory owner and the property owner who possibly will be affected by opposition to such places.

Let us hope this issue will be amicably settled to all concerned. The city has taken the action that will prove popular for it is the desire to provide work in order a livelihood may be maintained. We are of the opinion that "All's well that ends well."

CLEANING UP THE MOVIES

THE campaign against undesirable motion pictures has the backing of not less than twelve million people, according to leaders and the "ecclesiastic boycott" in Philadelphia has caused one large chain of theatres to give notice to its employees that it might compel the closing of their theatres.

Recent developments in the drive of the Catholics against evil moving pictures is the release of a list approving fifty-two pictures as suitable for those who have signed the pledge against offensive pictures. Forty-one others are "offensive in spots" and thirty-one are listed as immoral and indecent.

From the home of the moving picture producers comes information that this week will see the beginning of the most rigid film clean-up campaign in the history of the industry and that all producers will be required to comply with the code of censorship adopted by the Motion picture Producers and Distributors of America, the Hays organization, in 1930. The code has been ignored for the most part and would probably be without power now if it were not for the drive of the church people. It represents a typical example of the hokum set up under the Hays regime.

Most of the critics of the films have been fair enough to admit that most of the blame rests upon the producers rather than upon the local exhibitors. For example, operators of moving picture theaters here and there have little choice in the selection of films to be exhibited, being compelled until recently to buy the complete output of producers. However, under the new code, the exhibitors have the opinion of rejecting a small percentage of the films offered. The block-booking system, as it is called, has been roundly denounced and legislation will probably be sought to outlaw it altogether.

Reports from Hollywood are that the producers are groggy, having hitherto worshipped the theory that they could do no wrong, that the customer wanted risque pictures and dialogue and that talk of reform was the idle prattling of inconsequential busy-bodies. However, behind the scenes a major readjustment is taking place, with schedules scrapped and, as Chaplin Hall says, the producers are saying "nothing in all languages, including the Scandinavian" and sawing wood.

NO DICTATOR HERE

WE have no idea of spiking the argument of anybody who thinks that the United States is under a dictatorship or undergoing a revolution that is contrary to popular support.

However, at this time the President is miles away from his capital and the Nation is beginning to hum with the cries of candidates seeking office. Messrs. Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler are not taking an ocean voyage and Russia, Germany and Italy allow none but government picked candidates to run for election to a government controlled house. Here it is quite different.

There are many candidates for office freely criticizing the administration, its brain trust, its bureaus and its spending. This is as it should be. Regardless of whether one be a Democrat or Republican it is well to have opposition to any party in power and the more vigorous the opposition the better, in all probability, will be the government.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

A LITTLE NONSENSE

THE problem of the foreign debts due us is not one of making collections, difficult as this may be, or even impossible when cash payments only are considered, but one of receiving payment. As we said last week, it seems to be a choice between giving away a huge amount of wealth, or of cutting down our own production in order to dispose of foreign goods. The only escape from this dilemma would be to increase our own consumption which is a task so new and strange that we have no idea at all how to do it.

When a man finds that he is much richer than he thought, when his income is doubled, or when he gets an unexpected sum of money, his first impulse is to spend at least a part of the increase in wealth. If the spending is done in a reasonably intelligent manner this is quite wise and proper. One who fails to raise his standard of living under such circumstances is regarded as foolish, or worse. Yet, when a great nation attempts to do the same thing it is condemned as wickedly extravagant. (You remember how we were scolded for reckless spending in 1929). Having some twenty-two thousand millions of dollars which we must spend if we are to get it at all, we are completely lost in a fog of old ideas and habits.

In this dilemma of the debts an impossible suggestion will be no more foolish than the grave and weighty proposals of our alleged statesmen. On a total principal of twenty-two billions of public and private balances due, a fair annual payment of principal and interest should be at least five per cent, or eleven hundred millions. Suppose that this amount were to be placed to our credit in foreign banks. Not all the financial genius in the world could transfer that sum to banks in the United States, except as payment for our expenditures abroad. Let us repeat that if we use it to pay for our regular imports then we cut off our foreign market for so much cotton, copper and other exports. To get the money we must spend it for something extra, something we would not otherwise have.

At a thousand dollars each, which is a fair allowance, eleven hundred million dollars a year would give every college student in the United States a vacation trip, not once, but every year, to Europe, to South America, or to Japan or China, provided that the trip was made in foreign ships. All the school teachers in the country might be substituted for all the college students, if they were more favored. We could pick any eleven hundred thousand people we wished. If we wanted to save expenses we could take that many folks off the relief rolls and have them lodged and boarded in comparative luxury for three months, with a material decrease in the calls for relief. The one thing we could not do would be to collect from the travellers. In the first place nobody has that much money for travel expenses abroad. Even when we were feeling rich the most that our tourists ever sent was carefully estimated at about seven hundred millions a year. In the second place, those who still have a little extra money left are needed to provide a market for our own products, either directly or indirectly. The money they spend abroad is used towards paying for American exports. The only way to escape the dilemma is to give the treat to a whole lot of people who could not otherwise afford it.

Some Frenchmen or other has ventured the suggestion that France might pay us in wines and liquors, of which there is said to be a large stock available in that country. The French debts are also about four billion dollars, or more. You may work that one out yourself, remembering always that you must not compete with the California wine industry, nor with our own distillers, for you must not destroy any part of our present economic set-up.

This article, you will perceive, is pure nonsense. It is just as foolish as lending $22,000,000,000 to people and then taking elaborate precautions to prevent them from paying it back, and losing our tempers because we will not allow them to pay us. It is no more foolish than a great many slogans that are being broadcast by every means known to our expert publicity men. Perhaps the fundamental foolishness is the old idea, which is still held by many people, that we can have a rich, prosperous and productive country full of very poor people.

The only possible way that we can ever get that money back is to spend

That is a new idea, and therefore painful. It will take a long time for it to penetrate the minds of our political and business leaders.

Perhaps these absurd suggestions will give us a further hint as to the coming dynamic economies, which may be expected to place less emphasis on the old study of production and exchange, and more emphasis on consumption. We know how to produce, at least we have plenty of experts who know. We do not know how to consume our wealth. Our thinking apparently needs to be diverted into new channels, for it appears that production and exchange do not govern consumption, but are governed by it. The old paradox, quoted once before in this column, is worth repeating:

"What I saved I lost,
What I spent I kept,
What I gave away I saved."

DEATH DRIVERS

(San Antonio Light)

IN A FRUITFUL campaign for safety the railroads of the country have been emphasizing this slogan:

"A second of carelessness may mean a lifetime of regret." The thought well may be borrowed and applied to the thousands of drivers of automobiles.

Just a moment of carelessness, the least bit of thoughtlessness or an inexcusable display of selfishness, and a human life may be snuffed out. The time has come when motorists MUST BE MADE TO DRIVE SAFELY.

Every traffic regulation is violated. Speed laws are broken. Traffic lights are ignored. Drivers cut in and out of traffic, regardless of the rights of those ahead or those who are following.

Pedestrians are ignored. Thousands of tons of steel are sent hurtling through the air at the men, women and children on foot, and if an accident is avoided it is the result only of the agility of those caught in the path of the rushing cars.

Coupled with the criminal carelessness of the drivers themselves is the seemingly utter disregard of car owner of the imperative need of keeping their machines in even good condition.

The streets are filled with cars equipped with imperfect brakes, with

WARNER BROTHERS, who have attained quite a reputation for elaborate screen musicals, have two new before the cameras. They promise to uphold and surpass past productions. They are "Dames" and "Flirtation Walk." Busby Berkeley, who has directed most of the Warner musical films, has charge of the former, while Bobby Connelly of the Broadway stage is creating the dancing numbers for "Flirtation Walk."

Josephine Hutchinson, of the Theatre Guild, will make her cinema debut at Warners in "Gentlemen Are Born," with Dick Powell. She will make two other pictures this summer before she returns to the New York stage.

"Romance in the Rain," a musical, featuring Heather Angel, Roger Pryor, Esther Ralston and Victor Moore, has been completed at Universal studios.

Pat O'Brien has certainly been kept busy by First National. He recently finished "Here Comes the Navy," with James Cagney. At present he is at Warner Brothers, where he is appearing in "Flirtation Walk" with Dick Powell, and he is scheduled to do "I'll Sell Anything" just as soon as he finishes his present work.

The little songs sung by diminutive Shirley Temple in "Little Miss Marker," "Baby, Take a Bow," and "Stand Up and Cheer" were so well received that she is to sing, "The Grasshopper and the Frog," in "Now and Forever" in which she is appearing with Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard.

Eddie Cantor's next for Samuel Goldwyn, "Kid Millions," is scheduled to go before the camera most any day now, in the east with him will be Ethel Merman, Ann Southern, George Murphy, Janice Jarrett and Lucille Ball.

The editor's shears are busy on Douglas Fairbanks' latest, "The Private Life of Don Juan," made in England. It will be presented in this country probably about the first of September.

Following the completion of "Woman in the Dark," from the Dashiell Hammett novel, in which Fray Wray and Ralph Bellamy were featured, Select Productions announced that the next two of its twelve productions for this season, would be "Gigoloette" and a film version of "Lavender and Old Lace" a best seller in 1932.

RKO-Radio is finding it somewhat difficult to find suitable story material for Katherine Hepburn. Several of the pictures selected for her, such as "Tudor Wench" and "Joan of Arc" have been postponed due to the fact that the studio feared they would run into censorship difficulties. However, her next will be "The Little Minister," to be followed by "The Gorgeous Hussy," by Samuel Hopkins Adams.

John Gilbert has signed a five-year contract with Columbia, provided he attains the success the studio hope he will. His first is "The Captain Hates the Sea," in which he plays the role of an irresponsible newspaper reporter, while Fred Keating plays the romantic role of Danny Checkett.

Banned by censors in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, Mae West's "It Ain't No Sin," has been returned to Paramount to be purified.

Community Picnic Near CCC Camp Proves Of General Pleasure

A county community picnic given near the CCC Camp, Kiln, on July 4th, marked with a barbecue feast, with Sheriff T. Ed Keller proved an event of general pleasure and widespread interest. The affair was free to the public and this gesture was appreciated by the numerous attendance.

Parties in charge, Ferdinand Depree, Olus Depree, Wiley Bilbo, Albert Nease, Frank Quintini. Asa Downs did the cooking. The barbecue required 18 sheep, 4 calves, and 2 beef. This gave ample food for the crowd. The meats were deliciously barbecued.

Speakers during the day were Will Elmer, Biloxi; Wm. F. Estep of Gulfport and T. Ed. Keller of Hancock county.

Four Colored Priests of Society of Divine Word Assigned to Lafayette

The first four colored priests of the Society of the Divine Word who were ordained at the seminary of the Society in Bay St. Louis, Miss., on May 23 by the Most Reverend R. O. Gerow, D. D., will be assigned to the diocese and city of Lafayette, La., where for the first few years all will be under the direction of the Reverend Herman J. Patzelt, S. V. D., who is in charge of Holy Rosary Institute of that city.

The four priests will have their own church, school and community house, a few blocks from the Holy Rosary Institute. All will be engaged in pastoral and educational work among the colored people of the district and prepare for doing missionary work in other parts of the South. It is the intention of the Superiors of the Society of the Divine Word to send their newly ordained priests also in the future years to a community house so as to give them better pastoral preparation for their missionary work among the colored people of the Southern States.

Transaction of business followed. Reports from committees showed much had been accomplished.

GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI SAYS HE WILL KEEP HANDS OFF OF THREE-CORNERED SENATORIAL RACE IN STATE

SENATOR PAT HARRISON

Pat Harrison, Mississippi's senator, will take the stump this fall in behalf of colleagues in other states, but will follow a "hands off" policy with regard to the heated three-cornered senatorial race in his own state, he revealed to an Associated Press correspondent while at Jackson Monday in a formal statement.

Senator Harrison, who recently returned from Washington, spent the day conferring with friends, but steering clear of all discussions involving state congressional campaigns.

His colleague, Senator Hubert D. Stephens, is a candidate for re-election, and is opposed for the Democratic nomination which is tantamount to election, by three candidates. They are former Governor Theo. G. Bilbo, Poplarville, and Congressman Ross A. Collins, of Meridian and State Senator Frank Harper of Hattiesburg.

Shortly after Senator Stephens formally announced his candidacy Senator Harrison issued a statement from Washington stating he was going to vote for his colleague, but would not take any part in the campaign.

"It is a happy position," said Senator Harrison, "to be on friendly terms with all political groups and candidates. I am trying to stay away from politics, and refraining from discussing politics."

Predicting the Democratic party "may lose a few seats in the next House of Representatives, but will make further gains in the Senate," Harrison said he had accepted several invitations to help the party in some so-called doubtful states.

Discussing legislation in the next Congress, Harrison's statement said: "We will not formulate our program before December. We must catch our breath from the gait we traveled during the last Congress. I want to see, and have every reason to believe that there will be a vigorous prosecution and application, through administration agencies, of the numerous laws we have already passed. They include relief to business, to labor, to agriculture, and broader opportunities to every class of our citizens."

"There can be no doubt," said Senator Harrison, "that the care by the federal government of the unfortunate people who are unable to obtain employment is costly, and some method of co-operation between captains of industry and the federal government, and perhaps the states, must be found and employment if the problem of unemployment is to be solved."

UNCLE SAM'S reduced air mail rates became effective July 1st. Air mail fee is now a straight 6-cents per ounce. The old rate was 8-cents for the first ounce, and 13-cents for each additional ounce. Permission has been granted the San Antonio postmaster to exchange 8-cent airmail stamps for the new 6-cent issue to co-operate with business firms having large stock of the former stamps on hand. August 15th, has been designated as the deadline for this exchange.

NEED of rainfall is becoming a serious problem in San Antonio and adjacent territory. Archbishop Arthur J. Drossaert issued orders for priests of the archdiocese to include prayers for rain in their daily recital of mass during the past six weeks. Catholic laity have joined in the prayers for drought relief.

ACCORDING to word from the U. S. Weather Bureau, the last rainfall of any consequence fell on April 19th. Since that date only 2 one-half inch rains have fallen, and a few light sprinkles offering no relief to sweltering temperatures, water starved livestock, and parched vegetation. The present drought does not establish a record, the weather bureau declared.

Clarence Hollander Wenar, native of New Orleans, aged 45 years, died at his home on the Waveland beach front, Tuesday, July 17, at 7 o'clock, following an ailment of long duration.

He is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Irma Shoen, of New Orleans, and sons and daughters.

The remains were taken in charge by the Pahey Undertaking Company, prepared for shipment and burial and were sent to Memphis, Tenn., via New Orleans Wednesday evening on train No. 5.

Mr. Wenar was no stranger here. A resident of New Orleans and frequent visitor to this section, a few years ago he moved with his family to Atlanta. Last year he moved from the Georgia city and decided to make his permanent home in Waveland, seeking the benefit of health, climate and better schools.

TO FIGHT MONOPOLIES

In what is considered a reply to Senator Borah's assertion that monopolies are thriving under the New Deal, Senator Lewis, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, declares that the administration will proceed to punish certain manufacturers and financial establishments who violate the codes and joined with each other in fixing prices—even against the Government itself.

Supervisor Lander Necaise said Tuesday that three vats would be operated in that territory under his jurisdiction, and that between 12 and 15 cattle owners were expected to bring from 350 to 400 animals to the vats, where Inspector O'Neil of the state live stock sanitary board will supervise the work.

CAPITOL ACTIVITIES.

(By Walker Wood, Secretary of State)

THREE more Mississippi projects have been approved by the Public Works Administration, viz: $129,000 for water works system at Laurel; a loan and a $20,000 grant for a school in Newton county, and a $5,800 loan and grant for a municipal swimming pool at Moorhead.

Governor Conner has been notified by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that $1,389,950.00 has been allotted to Mississippi for relief work during July. These funds are designated for direct relief, canning projects, social work, training projects, rural rehabilitation, reemployment research, handling drought area cattle, and a few miscellaneous programs.

A summary of total capitalization of both foreign and domestic charters recorded or filed in the office of the Secretary of State for the first half of the present year, and for the month of June, 1934, and a comparison of the same with like periods of the year 1933 reveal gratifying figures. The total capital of domestic or state charters recorded for the first six months of 1934 amounted to $3,995,000.00 against a total of $1,995,000.00, for the same period of 1933, which shows an increase of 100 per cent. The total capitalization of state charters recorded during June, just closed, is $701,000.00 against $500,000.00 for June, 1933.

The total stated foreign charter capitalization qualifying in Mississippi during the first six months of 1934 amounted to more than $614,000,000.00, against the sum of $4,500,000.00 during the same period of 1933. The total foreign capitalization for June, 1934, was $600,175,000.00 against $205,100.00 for June 1933.

A high honor has come to one of Mississippi's outstanding women. Mrs. Lucy Somerville Howorth, attorney, of Jackson, was appointed recently as an associate member of the Federal Board of Appeals for Veterans Administration. This appointment brings distinct honors, inasmuch as members of this Board are not selected from districts, or States, but selected solely on their own merits. Mrs. Howorth is both a lawyer and legislator of outstanding ability.

Moreau B. Chambers, field archaeologist, under the direction of Dr. Dunbar Rowland, director of Archaeology and History, is probing into the secrets of "Indian Mounds" near West Point, already three skulls and three skeletons have been unearthed. The Midyear report of Hon. Alf

Stone, chairman State Tax Commission, discloses that a total of $2,900,000.00, in round numbers, has been collected from ten different sources of revenue administered by him. During the first six months of 1933 there was $2,000,000.00 collected, or a fifty per cent increase, in 1934.
